

POLICY NUMBER: POL-04

Chapter: GENERAL

Subject:
ACCESS TO WORKER CLAIM INFORMATION

Effective Date:
November 18, 1993

Last Update:
December 8, 2025

PURPOSE STATEMENT:

The purpose of this policy is to provide appropriate access to worker claim file information.

REFERENCE:

Workers Compensation Act, RSPEI 1988, c W-7.1, Section 83
Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act R.S.P.E.I 1988, Cap. F-15.01, Sections 1, 15, 37

DEFINITION:

In this policy:

“Authorized representative” means an individual with written authority from a worker or employer to act on behalf of them, including accessing information held by the Workers Compensation Board.

“Person with a direct interest” related to a claim decision means the worker or dependants of the deceased worker, the accident employer where the decision has a direct financial, legal or operational impact on that employer, and the Workers Compensation Board.

POLICY NUMBER: POL-04

POLICY:

1. When a claim is filed for compensation, the Workers Compensation Board (WCB) is entrusted with personal information that is required to administer the claim.
2. All worker claim information is considered personal information. The WCB ensures that any disclosure is done in compliance with the Workers Compensation Act and the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy (FOIPP) Act.
3. The WCB is committed to protecting the privacy of personal information. Disclosure of claim information is limited to only what is reasonably required for fairness and accountability in claim administration, and as otherwise authorized by law.

Routine Claim Communications

4. The WCB will maintain open communication with workers, or their dependants in the case of deceased workers, throughout the duration of their claim.
5. The WCB also communicates with the worker's employer, health care providers and other service providers in the course of managing a claim. This communication may require disclosure of the worker's personal information.
6. Examples of claim activities where the WCB may be required to disclose personal information include, but are not limited to:
 - Explaining a claim decision.
 - Determining the nature and cause of a workplace injury.
 - Determining entitlement to benefits and services.
 - Requesting medical information.
 - Authorizing treatment and medications.
 - Arranging assessments.
 - Determining fitness for work.
 - Facilitating a return to work or vocational rehabilitation plan.
 - Managing employer accounts related to claim costs.
 - Providing information required to pursue appeal rights.

POLICY NUMBER: POL-04

7. Disclosure of claim information may occur verbally or in written claims communications. It may be disclosed proactively as determined necessary by the WCB or in response to claim inquiries. In all cases, the WCB will ensure that:
- The disclosure is required for the purposes of managing the claim or otherwise authorized by law.
 - The individual is authorized to have access to the information.
 - The disclosure is limited to relevant information only.
 - No more than the minimum information necessary to achieve the purpose is disclosed.

Claim Decision Letters

8. In addition to routine claim communications, the WCB will provide claim decision letters to the worker and the worker's employer, if the employer is a person with a direct interest in the decision.
9. In the decision letter to the worker, the WCB will explain the reasons for the decision, including the application of legislation and policies used in the decision-making process and the significance of the evidence. The WCB will reference or include the information that was used to make the decision.
10. In the decision letter to the employer, the WCB will explain the application of the legislation and policies used in the decision-making process. The letter will explain the basis for the decision while limiting the disclosure of the worker's personal information to the minimum necessary.

The WCB will not disclose specific medical, family or social details or history, pre-existing conditions or other information that is not work-related, but may summarize generally that these factors were considered in the decision, if that is relevant.

11. If an employer requests more information about a decision, the WCB will determine whether the employer requires the information to clarify an issue in dispute. If there is a stated issue, the WCB may summarize additional relevant information. If this additional disclosure is not sufficient, the employer may request access to the claim file documents.

POLICY NUMBER: POL-04

Access to Claim File Documents

Worker Access

12. Workers have the right to access all documents on their claim file, subject to any exceptions under the FOIPP Act.
13. The WCB will provide the worker with their claim file and any file updates, free of charge.
14. On request from the worker, the WCB may provide specific documents from the claim file. The request must specify the type and date of the requested information.

Dependant Access

15. In the case of a deceased worker, the worker's dependants may request, in writing, the claim file documents. The WCB will provide the information it determines to be relevant to the dependants' entitlement to compensation benefits and services.

Employer Access

16. A worker's employer may be provided with access to claim file documents if all of the following criteria are met:
 - An issue in dispute is identified.
 - The employer is a person with a direct interest in the issue.
 - The request is in writing. An Employer's Request for Worker Claim File and Authorization (CL-04) available.
17. If the request meets the criteria, the WCB will provide the employer with the information it determines to be relevant to the issue in dispute, free of charge.
18. The WCB will ensure that only the information relevant to the issue is released. To determine relevancy, the WCB will consider whether the information has a reasonable connection to the issue in dispute and has value in proving or disproving evidence used in making the decision. Relevancy will be determined on a case-by-case basis.

POLICY NUMBER: POL-04

Where sensitive medical information (physical or psychological) is involved, the WCB will ensure that family or social details or history, specific pre-existing conditions and other information that is not work-related is not included in the file. The WCB may replace the information with general headings of factors, if they were considered in the issue. Only relevant background information and conclusions are considered for disclosure to the employer.

19. Employers are not authorized to use the claim information for any reason other than the pursuit of the issue in dispute.
20. The worker will be advised in writing when claim file documents are being provided to the employer.

Authorized Individuals

21. Before releasing any information, the WCB will ensure that claim information is disclosed only to individuals who are authorized and the identity of the individuals is verified.
22. Workers are authorized to access all of their personal claim information, subject to exceptions under the FOIPP Act.
23. A worker may authorize a representative to act on their behalf for claim communications and access to claim file documents. This authorization must be made in writing and can be done through Online Services, by completing a Worker's Authorization for Communication and Representative (CL-05) form, or another form acceptable to the WCB. The worker may provide verbal permission to discuss claim matters with another individual who is in their presence.
24. An employer may authorize a representative to act on their behalf for claim communications and access to claim file documents. The employer must provide authorization in writing on the Employer's Request for Worker Claim File and Authorization (CL-04) or other form acceptable to the WCB.
25. Authorizations will remain in effect until the WCB is notified otherwise.

POLICY NUMBER: POL-04

26. If a worker is incapacitated, the WCB may communicate limited claim information to the worker's family or caregiver to ensure that the worker has access to appropriate benefits and services.

Third Party Requests for Claim Information

27. The WCB will respond to written requests for claim information where there is a legal obligation to disclose. Examples include, but are not limited to, requests from courts, law enforcement agencies, maintenance enforcement officials, and employment insurance officials.
28. The WCB may have information sharing agreements in place with other compensation boards, government departments or agencies, associations, or research entities. Claim information will be disclosed based on the provisions in the agreements.
29. For all other requests from third parties, such as banks and private insurance companies, the worker's written consent must be received by the WCB before information will be disclosed. The exceptions are where the WCB is authorized by law or is pursuing legal action on the claim.

The consent must be in a form acceptable to the WCB, specifically naming the third party and clearly stating the information that can be disclosed.

Unauthorized Disclosure

30. The WCB takes all reasonable precautions to protect the privacy of personal information. In the event of unauthorized disclosure, the WCB will take steps to contain the unauthorized disclosure and to recover the personal information. The situation is evaluated to determine the individuals affected, the type of information, and the cause of the unauthorized disclosure. Affected individuals are notified as appropriate and the WCB takes measures to prevent similar occurrences in the future.

HISTORY:

December 8, 2025 – Non-substantive amendments following internal policy review.

June 1, 2021 – Non-substantive changes to form names.

POLICY NUMBER: POL-04

January 28, 2021 – Amended to allow for verbal authorization of representatives and limited disclosure in the event of incapacitated workers. New content added on routine communications, claim decision letters, third party requests and unauthorized disclosure. Existing content on access to claim file documents was clarified.
